WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—War Department, Office of the Chief Signal Officer, Washington, D. C., Feb. 10, 1877.—10:30 a. m. For the Middle and Eastern States northeast winds, clear or partly cloudy weather, and in some places falling barometer and higher temperatures, but in later rising barometer and stationary or lower temperatures.

M. E. Church.—On Thursday night a large congregation assembled in this church. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Penick, of the Baptist Church. The text selected was Philippians iii. chap. 13th and 14th verses:—"Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended, but this one thing I do, &c." At the close, several presented themselves around the communion rail for prayer. The pastor, Rev. W. C. Webb, conducted the exercises, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Nichols. Mr. Webb preached an impressive sermon from Matthew, xxiii. chap. 23rd verse:—"How can ye escape the damnation of hell?" The preacher observed that he had not taken the text for the purpose of discussing the details of future punishment, but for the purpose of preaching Christ. All that he wished to do was to bring out two or three facts suggested by the question of the text.

1. How to avoid the terrible retribution that will be the subject of earnest enquiry.

2. How to avoid this terrible retribution that will be the subject of earnest enquiry.

3. With some to escape this future retribution is matter of the greatest difficulty.

At the close of the sermon, several earnest prayers were offered, and some of those who went forward as enquirers professed conversion. The meetings will be continued next week.

SOCIETY NEWS.—Among the ladies present at the grand ball given to the Grand Duke Alexis and the officers of the Russian fleet, at the Portsmouth navy yard, on Thursday night, the Norfolk Virginian mentions the following, who were well known in this city:

Miss Effie Boush—Black silk, white lace overdress; ornaments, coral.

Miss Jennie Blow—Handsome black crepe, elaborately trimmed with pink and pink flowers. Her hair was beautifully arranged, and her ornaments were diamonds.

Miss Eliza Blow—A beautiful white illusion dress, with pink silk overskirt, tastefully trimmed with pearls and ornaments.

Miss Julia Blow—White crepe with pink silk overdress, pink corsage and ornaments of pearls.

Miss Effie Boush—White tulle, satin lace, pearls and gold.

Miss Mary Goodie—Pink satin, velvet trimmings, adorned with flowers; pearl ornaments.

Miss Lucy Blackall—Very handsome cantelope dress; diamonds and pearls.

AN ACT OF JUSTICE.—On Saturday last Charles Henry Simpson, one of the negro men who was hung yesterday at Port Tobacco, saying that before he died he wanted to do an act of justice, made an affidavit that in November, 1876, he assisted in the night an old man by the name of Welsh, who kept a grocery in this city, for which offence, Louis Manul, a negro resembling him was sent to the penitentiary for ten years, where he is still confined. This affidavit was sent to Governor Kemper and it is probable that the case of Manul will be re-examined by the Governor and if the evidence sustains Simpson's statement, a pardon will be granted.

O. R. R.—At a regular meeting of Washington Tent No. 67, O. R. R., at Herndon, Va., held last Friday night, the following officers were installed to serve the ensuing term: John S. W. Shepherd; B. W. Clark, P. C. R.; R. A. Minkin, C. R.; E. Dyer, D. R.; J. P. Bickley, S. S.; W. J. Raby, F. S.; Irving Brown, Treasurer; N. B. Fones, L. V. J.; J. W. R. S. to C. R.; J. Campbell, L. J. to C. R.; J. E. West, R. S. to D. R.; John Sack, L. S. to D. R.

DISASTERS.—The revenue cutter Thomas Evans, which arrived at Baltimore yesterday, reported that she had towed into the Potomac river the brig Ellen H. Munroe, which she had anchored in the bay unable to proceed, owing to having lost her spars. The manner of the loss was not reported. The brig is loaded with plaster, and consigned to Mr. P. W. Samor, of this city. The tugboat Smith Pettit went to her assistance this morning, and will tow her to this port.

BREATH CHURCH.—Services are now held regularly in the Breath Baptist Church, colored, where so much trouble recently existed between two factions in the congregation. To-morrow morning, at 11 o'clock, Rev. J. M. Storm, of Wayland Seminary, Washington, will preach at 3 p. m. a social meeting will be held, and at 7 p. m. Rev. A. Henderson will preach.

PROXES.—The Mayor, Presidents of the two Boards of Council, and the Chairman of the Finance Committee have appointed Messrs. John W. Burke and S. C. Neale as proxies to represent the city's interests at the general meeting of the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, which will be held at Annapolis on Tuesday next.

COMPLIMENTARY.—The Leesburg Washington pays the following well merited compliment to Rev. Wm. Dinwiddie of this city:—"The Rev. Dr. Dinwiddie, of Alexandria, has been preaching a series of sermons in the Presbyterian Church of this place, during the past week. He is a very interesting and instructive preacher—it is rare for this community has been favored with such an able series of sermons as he has preached."

A man named Samuel Bradbury, while wrestling with a companion named Hayden at the ship yard this morning, was thrown violently to the ground and had his leg broken. He was removed to his room at Mrs. Kelly's boarding house, on the corner of Fairfax and Gibson sts., where the necessary surgical attendance was rendered him.

THE CITY CHARTER.—The meeting of those opposed to the amendments to the city charter, which was called to take place at the colored Old Fellows' Hall, last night, did not do so owing to the small number of persons present. At half past eight o'clock there were about twelve or fifteen colored men present, and Mayor Johnson looking in, advised Chas. Stokes, who had charge of the meeting, that if they wanted to get a crowd they had better have a meeting in some more central location, and those present decided to take the Mayor's advice and adjourned until Monday night, when they will try to hold a meeting in the market square. Three or four white men, among them President Lytham of the Common Council, looked in during the evening but left immediately.

RECOVERING.—Miss Alice Miles, the particulars of whose attempt to commit suicide by cutting her throat, near Glymont, some time since, have been heretofore published in the Gazette, is said to be recovering. The cause of her rash act is now alleged to have been disappointment in love; a young man to whom she was engaged having broken his promise. The lady and her family are of the highest social position, and have the hearty sympathy of all the residents of their neighborhood.

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS.—Mr. David Turner has resigned the office of Collector of Customs at this port, and his resignation has been accepted. The President has appointed Mr. A. A. Warfield, of this city, to fill the vacancy, and his nomination was expected to be sent into the Senate to-day. It is understood that the change was made through the influence of Col. John S. Mosby. Mr. Warfield is a native of Alexandria, and is at present a member of the drug firm of Janney & Co.

OVERBOARD.—While Messrs. Andrew Kell and Ferdinand Heisley were at work yesterday painting the lower works of the steamer Keyport, at the ship yard, the skill in which they were standing sunk under them, and both of them received a thorough ducking. They succeeded in making their escape without further damage.

Local Brevities.—Rev. Dr. Wilson, President of the Maryland Annual Conference M. E. Church, will preach in the Methodist Protestant Church, in this city, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Francis Hanna, a well-known citizen of Washington, but formerly a resident of Occoquan, died in the former city yesterday.

Taylor Radcliffe, an engineer upon the steamer Arctic, lying at the Great Falls Ice Company's wharf in Georgetown, accidentally fell overboard yesterday. He was rescued before he sustained any injury.

J. Thomas Jones, the negro who stole a mule from John Butler, in Fairfax county, Va., on the 22d of January, and has been held in Washington since that time, was yesterday turned over to the Virginia authorities on a requisition from Gov. Kemper.

Col. John S. Mosby spent last night in this city as the guest of Mr. Lewis McKenzie.

Sarepta Hall.

The discussion about the safety of public halls in the various cities, brings vividly to mind the alarm at Sarepta Hall, in this city, last week, which nearly became a panic that might have produced most lamentable results, and caused the newspapers throughout the country next morning to have had some such a paragraph as this:

Most Horrible Catastrophe at Alexandria, Va. Unhappily one of a Hundred Persons Killed and Maimed!

"Owing to an accident with the calcium lights the audience at a tableau exhibition at Sarepta Hall, Alexandria, Va., last night, became panic stricken and rushed down a long flight of stairs to the entrance passage, which was soon blocked, owing to the first doors (arranged to open inwardly) being closed by the first rush, thus cutting off from a large portion of the audience, mostly women and children. Some fainting and falling to the floor, caused others to stumble and fall and be trodden under foot, and there either killed or maimed. The number and names of victims not yet ascertained, but supposed to be over one hundred."

But for the prompt interposition of a few gentlemen, with their assurances that the danger was over, the incident might have grown to an extent that might have given cause for such a paragraph as the above, and this day many of our community been lamenting the loss of or waiting over the mangled body of some dear one.

After the alarm had subsided several gentlemen made an examination as to the facilities for egress in case of a sudden panic, and they found the front doors (opening inward) partly shut. So that the first rush would have closed them and have cut off egress, which would have soon filled the passage and stairway and caused many persons to be trampled upon and either killed or maimed.

The back windows up stairs open out on an alley and afford no possible chance to escape from them, nor the front windows except by ladders, which are not apt to be at hand when needed, and at best are very dangerous for women and children to use when frightened.

We were told that there was a small flight of stairs in the rear. As the doors to that part of the building were fastened we could not prove whether this was so or not. Admitting there is, it might be of no use to the audience that night, and even if approachable they would be very dangerous for an excited crowd to attempt to use.

It was found that oils and other inflammable articles are kept and handled in the paint and drug store under the main steps, thus constantly endangering this only source of egress from the hall above. A timely warning to the wise should be sufficient.

Your correspondent feels it incumbent on him to direct attention to these facts, and in so doing disclaims being actuated by any other consideration than that of Pro Bono Publico.

To the humble and credulous as well as to the rich and skeptical, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a true and welcome friend.

Wells' Eucaly is perfectly harmless—it contains none but first-class articles, and there is less profit made by the manufacturer than any dentifrice now out; it is very agreeable to the taste.

TEMPERANCE. It is attracting much attention, showing itself in local option laws, societies, crusades and restrictions upon liquor production; but with all these efforts, the consumption is enormous, and, undoubtedly, the reason is because there is nothing strenuously advocated to relieve and destroy the craving for stimulants. But, if the disease was treated rationally, by arousing the timid liver with Serravallo's Liver Regulator, the dispirited drunkard would find his craving soon dissipated, and with cleared head and active liver, he would not want liquor.

NOTICE.—Having disposed of our business to Mr. L. RICHBERG, we wish to close up the affairs of our Company as rapidly as possible. Our friends who are indebted to us will confer a great favor by making prompt payment.

Political.—A Washington dispatch says Governor Tilden said Thursday evening to a personal friend whom he had requested to go to Washington:—"Say to our friends that they have no reason to be depressed if the commission decides against the Florida case. I expect the decision will be adverse but do not encourage despondency. The loss of Florida will not surprise, but there are other points upon which I am confident the democracy will succeed. I am a fatalist in so far as I believe, as the representative of the democrats, the final decision will be in our favor."

A Washington dispatch says it is said that in the electoral commission yesterday Messrs. Morton and Garfield carried on most of the discussion on the republican side. The other republican members saying comparatively little—nearly all of the democrats took an active part in the discussion. During the afternoon, Gen. Garfield came into the Senate several times and held consultations with Senator Sherman.

The New York Times has an Albany letter which says:—"Chief Justice Church regards the whole scheme of a 'commission' to decide the Presidency as unconstitutional and to use his own words 'the greatest farce of modern times.' Ex-Governor Seymour has expressed the opinion that the democrats in Congress 'made a great mistake' in urging the electoral commission. His reasons for this opinion are not like Judge Church's based on constitutional grounds but are rather those of a politician."

A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says: Many signs were visible among the democrats yesterday of a desire to postpone the report of the electoral commission to as late an hour as possible in order that certain court records might be received from Illinois touching the ineligibility of one of the electors of that State named Chaffee. It seems that this man held the office of U. S. commissioner in the southern district of Illinois on the day of the last election and according to a current report still continued in office on the day on which the electoral college met. It is doubtful if he has even resigned to this day. This fact was not known till a few days ago and certified copies of papers in the court showing these facts were at once telegraphed forth. They cannot reach Washington until late to-day and it is believed that some of the democrats intended to obstruct the proceedings of the joint convention in order that these papers may be received and be used as a basis for a protest against the vote of this elector.

A Columbus, Ohio, dispatch says:—"Republicans are jubilant over the action of the joint commission on the vote of Florida."

Telegram of congratulations poured in upon Governor Hayes last night from Congressmen and leading men in Washington all expressing confidence in the result of the contest.

Statements at a Colored Ball.

During Mr. Charles Irving Ditty's examination before the committee on the privileges and powers of the House of Representatives yesterday he testified to his having been selected by the President to go to New Orleans to witness the count of the votes, and he was asked whether while in New Orleans he had attended a negro ball and danced with the girls. He replied in the affirmative. He was asked by Mr. Sparks whether he had attended any other ball houses there. He explained that he had gone to this negro ball in company with several other gentlemen to see what was one of the peculiar institutions of New Orleans. Gentlemen of both political parties were there, he said, just as gentlemen would go to see any other curiosity—just as they would go to see a garden of oranges and lemons.

By Mr. Sparks—Q. Did Mr. Sherman go with you? A. I think not.

Q. Did Mr. Garfield? A. I think not; but Mr. Trumbull went.

Q. Did Mr. Trumbull dance with negroes? A. Yes, sir, he did. There is no secret about that.

Q. You are swearing now that Judge Trumbull went to a negro ball and danced with a negro? A. Yes, if you call these people negroes. They call them quadroons in Louisiana.

Q. You mean then that he did dance with quadroons? A. Yes. They are not called negroes there; they are all quadroons.

Q. Who went with you? A. Well, really, I do not recollect; three or four gentlemen on each side, democrats and republicans. We were there about an hour.

Q. Was it a reputable place? A. So far as outside appearances were concerned, it was quite reputable.

Q. Where was the ball? A. Somewhere in the city. I have not the remotest idea where. We were asked to go and see one of the institutions of New Orleans, and that is how we all went. We spent about an hour there and saw some very strange things. One of the women I noticed had pink eyes or nearly pink eyes. She was an Albino, or appeared to be, and all of them had hair as straight as the chairman of the committee.

During the examination quite an excited altercation arose between the members of the committee and the witnesses. Mr. Sparks having said that he believed Judge Trumbull would designate the witness' story as stuff, and Captain Ditty replying with some show of anger that if the chairman meant to insinuate that his (witness') statement was untrue, he (the chairman) assumed something which he had no right to assume. He stated that all parties went to the ball as a matter of curiosity, and mentioned as one of the features of the ball the woman with pink eyes.
